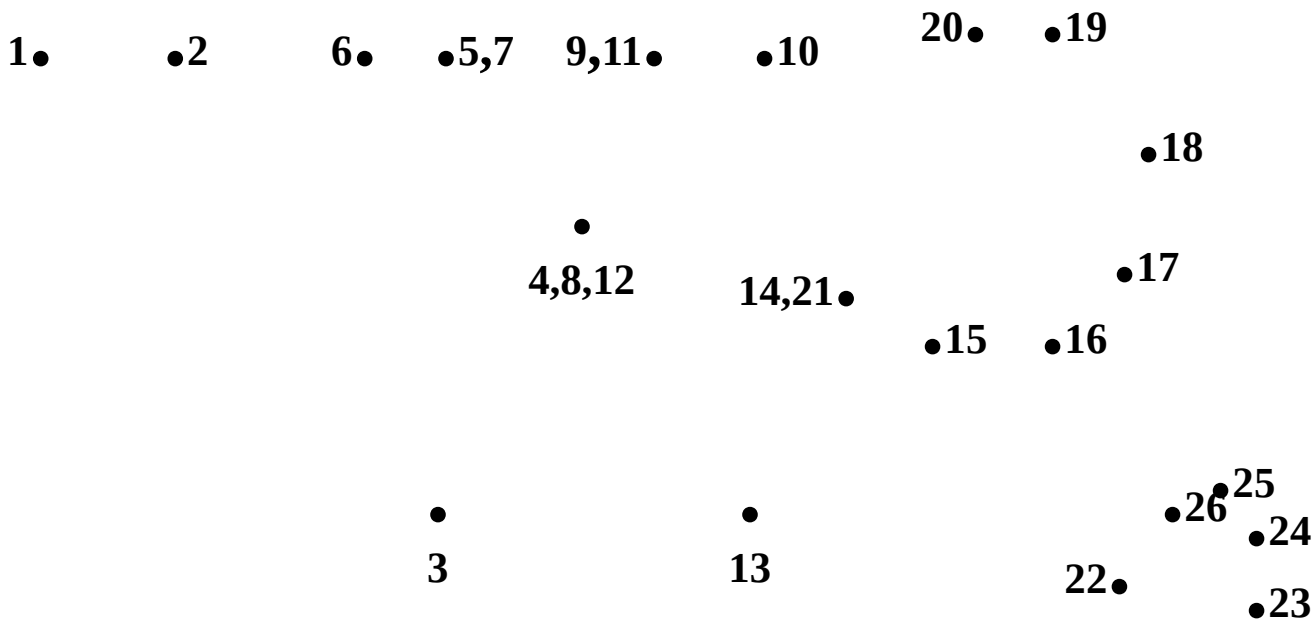
RITTENHOUSE WATERMARK
CONNECT THE DOTS

William Rittenhouse, the founder of North America's first paper mill, used watermarks to identify his paper. A watermark is a design that sometimes appears on a piece paper and is easily seen when held up to the light. Some papermakers still use watermarks today.


INSTRUCTIONS: CONNECT THE DOTS TO CREATE THE ORIGINAL WATERMARK OF WILLIAM RITTENHOUSE. SOME DOTS WILL BE USED MORE THAN ONCE.